

Dear Elizabeth,

It is a pleasure to write to you and congratulate you for your hard work, dedication, and success personally and academically. Your friends from the James McGahran Memorial Foundation are celebrating your accomplishments from afar. We wish you the best with your present and future studies and know, from your teachers, that you are a talented student. We always believe in your abilities and wish for you all the opportunities you hope for.

Sincerely, your American friends,

Sarah
